STABILIZE FARM PRICES, BUREAU HERE SUGGESTS

30 Attend Policy Development Meet Here On Saturday

The Morgan County Farm Bureau at its "grass roots" policy development meeting here last Saturday enacted resolutions recommending continuance of the 90 percent parity price support and acreage control program for burley tobacco, continuance of the Soil Conservation Service, exchange of foreign students, stable farm prices, and stricter state laws on livestock sanitary inspection and marketing.

About 30 farmers attended the meeting, one of hundreds being held throughout the farm belt to determine what the farmers want in new federal farm legislation, Ezra Bach, president of the county group, presided.

Resolutions enacted here will be sent to the State Farm Bureau Federation to guide it in drafting State resolutions to be sent to the Secretary of Agriculture Benson and the Congress.

The local farm bureau took no stand in the National Farm Bureau Federation's announced plan for a flexible farm price support law as opposed to a set parity price support. The local resolutions asked only for "a program to stabilize farm prices."

The resolutions, in brief, set out—

1. Retain the present 90 percent price support and acreage allotment program for burley tobacco.
2. Continue the federal government's program of exchanging students with foreign countries as a method of furthering world peace.
3. Formulate a program that will stabilize farm prices.
4. Continue the Soil Conservation Program as a means of aiding farmers in conserving their soil and water resources.
5. Continue and expand the agricultural research and education program.
6. Strengthen State laws providing sanitation inspection of livestock, and laws requiring livestock markets and weighmen be bonded to insure farmers fair buying and guaranteed payment for livestock.

Wheat Growers Must Get PMA Approval

Farmers planning to seed wheat this fall for use as green manure, for winter cover, or hay should request prior approval at Production and Marketing Administration county offices in order to avoid possible marketing quota penalties, PMA officials said here today.

Upon approval by county PMA committees, wheat may be seeded and used for these purposes without penalty.

Without such approval, wheat seeded for all purposes will be considered in determining marketing quotas penalties and wheat price support eligibility.

Morgan Polio Patient Is Slightly Improved

Condition of Mrs. Lavelle Nickell, 20, of Nickell who developed polio Oct. 6, was described as slightly improved by St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington, where she is hospitalized in the isolation ward. Doctors said she has some paralysis in both legs but that she will improve, however to what extent they are not certain. The Morgan County Infantile Paralysis chapter has been called upon to aid in the cost of special treatment of the patient, the first polio victim in Morgan this year.

In Ol' Morgan

FROM OKLAHOMA

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams and son-in-law, Robert L. Young and wife, Mildred Williams Young, his son and daughter, have been visiting relatives and friends in Morgan county last week. They left here about 1917 and this is their first visit in 17 years. They said they were surprised at the fine roads, farms and homes and the wonderful improvement. This is Mr. Young's first visit and he said he liked the people and the hills. While visiting her nephew, Charley Lykins, at Malone, she said in talking to the editor of The Courier, "I am homesick when I come back. We read every word in The Licking Valley Courier, and the story of the old chestnut orchard at Green Salvers was true and I remember the old beech tree and how the people would shout, 'I am going up there and to the top of the hill and look down in the valley where my grandfather, Bill Griffith, lived.'"

Blankenship, Cecil Attend Land Bank Meeting Oct. 20-21

L. W. Blankenship, of Hazel Green, Ky., and Cecil A. C. of Murphy Fork, Ky., will represent the Eastern Kentucky National Farm Loan Association at the Annual Federal Land Bank Shareholders' Conference at Louisville on October 20-21, announces Ed. D. Holbrook, secretary-treasurer of the association. They are directors of the association.

Purpose of the meeting is to give delegates from all the national farm loan associations in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee first hand reports on the business and financial condition of the Federal Land Bank of Louisville from the bank's executive officers and to give the association a part in planning its loan service to farmers. The Federal Land Bank's $5,000,000 of capital stock is owned cooperatively by the National farm loan associations in direct proportion to the amount of stock each farmer has in his local NFLA.

PERKINS SPEAKS HERE ON MONDAY

Congressman Carl D. Perkins addressed a crowded courtroom of Morgan citizens here Monday afternoon in his first visit to the county since he was elected to the Democratic party and Austin Hill, its nominee for county clerk.

Circuit Judge John A. Keck introduced Perkins as one of the nation's young and most progressive Congressmen.

Perkins also told the voters passage of the amendment which would place the ball on the next two plays Dehart swept both ends to place the ball on Paintsville's 15, and on the third play got away around left end for the final touchdown. But Dehart's valiant plunge for the extra point that would have meant victory was stopped by the Johnson count's forward wall.

Morgan County played Paintsville's heavier gridders without the services of three regular linemen and their 12-12 score and 284-174 rushing advantage indicates the fine team they really are.

Morgan will play at Wurtland Friday at 2 p.m. Eastern time. Catlettsburg will invade West Liberty the following Friday.

A. T. FERGUSON PASSES OCT. 5

Avery T. Ferguson, 52, of Muses Mills, Fleming county, died Oct. 5 in a West Liberty hospital of a heart ailment.

Mr. Ferguson was a son of the late W. M. and Laura Branner Ferguson, natives of the Elkfork section of Morgan county, who moved to Muses Mills in 1869.

His grandfather was John W. Ferguson of Morgan.

Mr. Ferguson suffered a heart attack in Morehead Oct. 3 and was brought to the hospital here where he later suffered a second attack that proved fatal.

He lived in Morehead for 20 years, where he operated the Yellow Cab Co. He was the only brother of John N. Ferguson, Sandy Hook funeral director.

Other survivors are his wife, Mrs. Pearl Butler Ferguson and a daughter, Mrs. Faye Hamilton of Fungusville.

Funeral was conducted at the St. John Christian church at Muses Mills where he was buried. His father had given the land on which the St. John church and cemetery are located.

Ministers and lay leaders of the Christian churches of Districts 13 and 14 met in West Liberty last Friday night to make plans for a state-wide program of evangelism.

The program, as adopted at the State Convention in Corbin, was presented by Rev. Penniston, West Liberty pastor. An effort is being made to have every Christian church in the state participate in this program.

Each district will be divided in two sections. During the first period of evangelism, March 7-14, the ministers of churches in group A will be in churches of group B. During the second period, April 4-11, the procedure will be reversed.

The Bayne Driskell plan of Comprehensive Evangelism will be used. This plan includes all known methods of evangelism. It consists of fellowship evangelism, education evangelism, visitation evangelism and mass evangelism, or preaching.

As developed by Mr. Driskell, former State Evangelist of Texas, the plan consists of four steps, prayer, cultivation, intensive visitation and preaching.

The following churches were represented at Friday's meeting: Daysboro, Hazard, Catlettsburg, Louisville, Old Grassy, and West Liberty. Pikeville and Hazel Green were unable to be present for the meeting but have made arrangements to study these plans at a later date. Rev. Penniston and Rev. Orville Skeen, Pikeville, joint directors of these two districts, will be spending considerable time the next few months visiting the churches, explaining the plan further and helping them set up their meetings.

A follow-up meeting of ministers of these districts will be held November 12 at West Liberty. At this time a definite exchange of ministers will be worked out and times set for which each church will participate in this program. The women of the local church will provide a noon meal for this meeting.

A Want Ad placed in the Courier will bring quick results.

MORGAN TIES PAINTSVILLE 12-12 FRIDAY

Blue Devils To Play Wurtland Friday At 2 p.m.

Morgan County and Paintsville played to a 12-12 deadlock in a non-conference game here last Friday with Morgan's fullback Dale Dehart tying the score on a 25-yard end sweep in the last two minutes of play.

Morgan County out-rushed the visitors 284 to 174 yards but trailed in first downs 10-8. The game was a hard-fought and rugged encounter but both teams took equal losses in penalties—45 yards.

Paintsville took a halftime lead of 6-0 on quarterback Joe Kirk's 2-yard plunge, and added another in the third quarter on a pass from Irvin Franklin to end Jim Colvin who scampered the remaining 10 yards to pay dirt.

Early in the third period Morgan's quarterback, Richie Stacy on a quarterback sneak got away for a 60-yard run and evaded all tacklers to score Morgan County's first touchdown.

Late in the last quarter, after each team had lost the ball twice on downs in hard playing, Paintsville punted to Morgan's 5. Hill and Dehart reeled off a 51 yard down, and then Dehart got 9 and 14 on the next couple of plays, and the game was tied.

On the next two plays Dehart swept both ends to place the ball on Paintsville's 15, and on the third play got away around left end for the final touchdown. But Dehart's valiant plunge for the extra point that would have meant victory was stopped by the Johnson count's forward wall.

Morgan County played Paintsville's heavier gridders without the services of three regular linemen and their 12-12 score and 284-174 rushing advantage indicates the fine team they really are.

Morgan will play at Wurtland Friday at 2 p.m. Eastern time. Catlettsburg will invade West Liberty the following Friday.

40 Attend Writers' Conference In West Liberty Saturday Afternoon

Mrs. Higbee Speaks; Plans Made To Form Pen Woman Branch

Approximately forty people attended the Writers' Conference here Saturday afternoon and heard Mrs. Alma Robison Higbee of Lathrop, Missouri, famous poet, author and lecturer who was born and reared at Yocum, a rural community seven miles northwest of West Liberty, explain the art of writing.

John D. Engle, Jr., Lexington, who is instructor in English and Journalism at Lafayette High school and who also was born and reared at Yocum, presided at the conference and introduced Mrs. Higbee. Previous to his introduction Mrs. Higbee, he introduced each person present, and, in the case of the writers present, told the accomplishments of each. He also read a number of poems written by Mrs. Higbee.

Mr. Engle then expressed to the group what Mrs. Higbee had meant to him, and the help he obtained from her early in his writing career. He concluded his remarks by presenting to the audience "Alma Robison Higbee of Kansas and Yocum."

Mrs. Higbee endeared herself to the audience with her first remark: "When Johnny introduced me as being from Kansas and Yocum—Yocum comes first."

She then told the group that during a talk with Gladys MacAllister, associate editor of YOCUM, a few years ago, Miss MacAllister told her that "that boy (Engle) had more promise than any young writer I have seen in my day."

"You can be a poet if the hands of the real Creator," she said during her talk. "And write to sell your State in an uplifting way."

One of the reasons why she became a writer, she explained, was because too many writers had "poked" fun at the mountain people of Kentucky. "When I read some of the pieces about mountain people, it made me heart-sick, and I would sit down and write a poem or story which I thought would show my people as sturdy, intelligent—the best people in the world."

She continued by saying when she was at Yocum she carried one end of a crosscut saw, and it was heavy until I learned to work with it. The saw is true in writing—work with your tools and use your tools to advantage."

She gave some helpful hints to beginning writers. First, she explained, make your manuscript a window dressing for the editor; use the best paper you can afford, and keep the copy neat; more editors will buy poetry that is universal in appeal, with strong reader identification; do not send a letter to the editor along with your poems; in a short story, use as few characters as possible; in all phases of writing, particularly poetry, learn technique so that it becomes natural, then forget it.

Mrs. Higbee stressed the importance of each writer making a market book for himself. Midway during the afternoon's proceedings, the poetry panelists assembled themselves around a table and answered various questions asked by the audience. The panelists were Mrs. Higbee, Mr. Engle, Sylvia Auxier of Pikeville and Katherine McClure of Grassy Creek. Their advice ranged from getting out of bed in the middle of the night to jot down an idea, to the ad-

Employment Service To Discontinue Visit To Counties In Area

Effective Nov. 1, the Morehead office of Employment Service at Morehead will be closed as recommended by the Federal Bureau of Employment Security.

In order to render a minimum service to the counties comprising the Morehead area, a full-time itinerant point will be established in the city of Morehead to which applicants and claimants of Bath, Menifee, Elliott, Morgan, and Rowan counties can report for the purpose of filing claims for Unemployment Insurance and required employment application process.

The itinerant service now furnished to West Liberty, Frenchburg and Owingsville will be abolished. Claimants at these points will be advised to report to the Morehead itinerant office located in the city of Morehead.

Lee Bayes Dies In West Liberty

Lee Bayes, 74, died at his home in West Liberty, October 16, after a long illness.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie Bayes, and two daughters, Mrs. Gay Tredway and Lena Bayes; a sister, Mrs. Della Foyers of Mash Fork, Ky., and a brother, Manford Bayes of Winchester.

Funeral services were held at the home Sunday and the funeral home was provided by the local funeral home. Burial was in the cemetery and the Toms Creek choir.

Mr. Bayes and his family moved from Bloomington to Wells Station in 1917, where he had a store and a farm. In 1923 they moved to West Liberty, where he was in the merchandise and real estate business for several years. He was a member of Co. C, 129th Infantry, in the Spanish-American War.

Burial was under direction of the West Liberty Funeral Home. Revs. Harlan Murphy and Gordon Duncan were officiating ministers.

TACKETT MURDER BILL DISMISSED IN COURT HERE

Judge Keck Names Jury Commission For Coming Year

The murder charge against William Tackett, Morehead restaurant operator, for the slaying of Pearl Fitch, 42, of Knot county, was dismissed in Morgan circuit court here Wednesday on motion of the Commonwealth because of lack of sufficient evidence.

Fitch's body was found on Wrigley Hill eight miles north of here August 2, 1952. State Police later arrested Tackett, claiming that he had brought Fitch from Rowan county to Morgan after shooting him. Fitch had worked for Tackett in Morehead and the two had had trouble before, officers said. However, there were no witnesses.

John Leroy Edmond, Fred Neal and Milton Spradlin of Cincinnati, charged with breaking and entering the home of C. W. Bailey at Dingus three years ago, agreed to a five-year sentence and the sentence was probated.

John Frank Robinson was acquitted of a charge of throwing a stone through the window of the home of Edgar Nipper at Bonny.

No misdemeanor cases have been tried and only a few other cases remain on the docket. Most of these are civil suits for damages growing out of auto accidents. The session probably will be adjourned late Thursday or Friday.

The grand jury had returned only six indictments until Thursday morning and all were for child desertion or failure to support their children as previously ordered by the court. Comptroller of West Liberty is foreman of the grand jury.

Commonwealth's Attorney W. Major Gardner was out of town Wednesday and County Attorney L. Rose served as Commonwealth's Attorney pro tem.

Judge Keck appointed as jury commissioners for the coming year Ollie Sargent of Blaine, Clifford Benton of Caney and Ark Smith of Payton. They commenced their work Wednesday of filling the jury wheel with names of citizens to be drawn for jury service next year.

Visiting attorneys at court this week included Judge A. N. Cisco of Ashland, J. Woodford Howard of Prestonsburg and Mr. Burns of Morehead.

J. E. WHITT DIES IN LOUISVILLE

J. E. Whitt, 84, died in Louisville Saturday, October 17. He had been ill for several months.

Born in Magoffin county, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ingram Whitt, he married Romula M. Purcell, who died in 1935 in Tulsa, Oklahoma. He later returned to Kentucky and married Rhoda Haney, who died three years ago.

Children surviving of the first marriage are Bernard E. Whitt of West Liberty, Ganes Whitt of Louisville, Garnie Whitt of Bowling Green, Nolan Whitt of Tulsa, Mrs. J. J. Day, Mrs. Bill Davis and Mrs. Maxine Gordy of Tulsa. Also surviving are two half-brothers, Edgar Whitt and Clinton Whitt of Magoffin county; three half-sisters, Mrs. Florence Whitley, Mrs. Rissie Harvey and Mrs. Gracie Risner.

Funeral services were conducted in Tulsa, Oklahoma, Tuesday, and interment was in the Tulsa Mausoleum. Before going to Oklahoma in 1918, he was a farmer in White Oak in Morgan county and engaged in the lumber and merchandise business at Wells Station.

BIG FOREST FIRE BURNS NEAR TOWN

A forest fire which started Wednesday at the city dump at the mouth of Elkfork and burned over about a hundred acres of land on the Bett Brown farm was thought to be under control on Thursday morning. However, at about noon fire from a dead tree near a barn which was endangering, was blown into the hills and a new fire started which became uncontrollable and spread over the hill into Dry branch and up the hill to the C. K. Stacy farm.

Several buildings and three tobacco barns were threatened. Forest Warden Virgil Lewis and a crew of men began fighting against the spreading flames late Thursday evening and had cleaned up the fire near the Jim Whitt place and burned the grass and bushes so the property was not so seriously endangered.

Jim Whitt also had a barn and tobacco on the Bellamy branch and the fires were making headway toward that section. About three hundred acres have been burned over and three hundred more threatened.

JOHN D. ENGLE, JR.

Send all poems to Mr. Engle
326 Woodland Avenue, Lexington, Ky.

During the first part of our summer vacation while driving west on highway 50 about eighteen miles east of Kansas City we saw a beautiful white tower rising from the countryside. Immediately, I recognized the tower as a part of the Unity School of Christianity, and we decided to stop and take a tourist's look at Unity Farm.

We turned off the highway into the main entrance of the farm and found ourselves surrounded by long low buildings with red tile roofs which are constructed along architectural lines of the Italian Renaissance. For a while we drove aimlessly about the grounds absorbing the striking beauty of the place, then we decided to find out if we were permitted to go to the top of the tower.

Once inside the tower we discovered that the information booth was located there, and the lady at the desk asked us whom we wished to see. I mentioned the name of Gladys MacAlister whose name had appeared on a number of rejection letters and a few acceptance letters sent to me during the past few years. Immediately the lady at the desk made a call to the administration building opposite the tower and informed us that if we would walk to that building Miss MacAlister would meet us there.

It was the first time I had met an editor who had accepted, as well as rejected, my poems. If all editors are as wonderful and friendly as those at Unity, beginning writers have nothing to fear from them. Miss MacAlister who is the associate editor of YOU, a magazine for young people, took us on a tour of much of the administration building. We met James E. Sweaney, the editor of YOU; Jane Palmer, associate editor of WEEKLY UNITY and editor of WEE WISDOM, and Lowell Fillmore, editor of WEEKLY UNITY and son of the founders of Unity. We were also taken to the library where the librarian showed me a record of my own poems and the dates of their publication.

When Miss MacAlister had to return to work, she turned us over to a special guide who took us through the printing plant where all the various magazines were in the process of being published. We were given sample copies of all the magazines.

Next, we were taken by elevator to the top of Unity Tower from which we had a magnificent view of Unity Farm. Later, we drove to the swimming pool and looked at the lodge and the student cabins. Our visit at Unity was a pleasant one. We would have liked to spend more time at this place of inspiration and beauty, this thriving community built on faith and service to others.

The sincere writer of religious poetry that is positive and simply written will find an outlet in Unity publications. If any contributors to M.M. wishes to try this market, I would suggest that you first write to Unity, Lee's Summit, Missouri and ask for sample copies of all their magazines. A study of the magazines will help you understand the kind of poetry they use and you will be pleased to see that these magazines do not use poems merely as fillers. Here poetry is given its due credit and is usually illustrated and given full-page spreads. You may also want to try your hand at an article or a story. In any case, you will find the editors kind and helpful if you have anything worthwhile to offer.

Miss MacAlister urged me to send her more poems and Jane Palmer told me that WEE WISDOM was glad to consider appropriate stories slanted to boys and girls. As an example of the kindness of these editors, consider the fact that during the year of my first acceptance by Unity, I was sent a Christmas gift of $10 simply because I was a contributor.

Perhaps I had better explain to readers of M.M. why this column has not appeared as regularly as it might. First, of course, the interruption was due to the vacation this summer. After my return, I still found little time for the column due to a change of teaching positions. I am now teaching at Lafayette High School, one of the largest in the state. In addition to two English and two Journalism classes, one of my duties is to supervise the Lafayette Times, a school newspaper that recently was rated one of the three top papers in the nation. Naturally, I have to keep busy if that high standard is to be maintained. My duties at school keep me so busy that I have to squeeze the columns in whenever there is time.

It was a pleasure to meet many of you at the Writer's Conference in West Liberty Saturday.

Harlan Brown, Ashland, visited in West Liberty Tuesday and was a pleasant caller at the Courier office.

It is strange how you hear folks say time and time again that trucks don't pay enough highway use taxes. When you press them and ask how much they think the trucks do pay in comparison with the passenger car, you get answers like "maybe twice, perhaps three times as much". Nothing could be further from the truth.

In Kentucky it takes the total road taxes paid by 23 automobiles to equal those paid by just one large transport truck! Just think of the revenue Kentucky gets from Public Servant No. 1, the TRUCK!

When It's Autumn In The Hills Of Morgan

By Gladys S. Wheeler

And now the air is pleasant with many things and sounds. It is Autumn and the woodlands are splashed with a most unusual beauty. It is adventure time. But you who are cupped in the lap of the panoramic hilly terrain do not have to travel miles to view the wonders of nature's lavish spread. Autumn, and the upland is a florid spectacle of tints, hues so varied they are unnamed over a bounty of basic greens, yellows and bronzes and pinks and reds and russets and heliotropes. mingling fluorescently in a melody of color. The sun traces the earth with its golden glow and in the garden and the fields sweet incense is high.

Off in there a stream rises. Its water sparkling as it glides along over a bed of rock or mossy gravel in the shallows. In its wake are the branches, forks, hollows, creeks . . . places that bear the name of many pioneering families: the Bentons, Burtons, Stacy, Lacy, Gevedon, Haney, Murphy, Barker, Jones, Carter and others. A people who came, saw, and remained.

Autumn, and out there beyond the barnyard, along a branch, the walnut and the hickory-nut flaunt their cheery greeting.

Brown curled-up leaves clattering and crackling as you walk. Up a steep bluff and a thicket of low-growing hazelnuts cling stinging to their little brown sanded clusters. To the left and to the right, in a field of matted grass and brambles touched with earthy shades, a fragrant sassafras flings her leaves of molten gold. At the crossroads . . . Stacy Fork . . . Jones Creek . . . there by a dusty path, little packs of drowsy wild grapes rest gracefully in the arms of a spindly sapling, acrostus little creatures. On, and the covetous sprays of purple elderberry keeps company with the piercing coral of the trumpet flower along the way.

Up, on a bank, a boister-like affair rearing above the old road and untouched for many moons, stands the velvety sumac dripping blood-red . . . a whirr . . . and a flock of warblers spring out and into mid-air.

On the hillside and along the creek bottom an old rail fence—rails that were hewn by hand—zigzags in a briarstitch design, stretching toward the east and the west and the north and the south to form a divide.

There, a field "gone wild" with white and lavender asters, clumps of aromatic cudweed and drooping blooms of sneezeweed interspersed with delightful plumes of the stately goldenrod. And shimmering in the sunlight, the frosted gray-green finger-like foliage dipping from needle size stems.

There, a pastureland . . . steep and rolling high, high . . . and the vivid ironweed rendering exquisite against a cerulean sky . . . the vista of an artist's dream . . . and sailseeds of the milkweed, sheeny, gossamer threads "air borne" drifting away to be some day, maybe, another milkweed tree. At the lower edge of the pasture, over in a crag, sweet mountain water drips from a rocky ledge into a chipped rock basin. A spicewood nestled at the top of the ledge reveals fully the scarlet of its red, red berries scattered in bunches on its rich brown limbs. On, and a winsome peach-toned buckeye has showed an offering of its highly polished namesake, the buckeye.

In the bottom, a field of corn uncut is twined with a million heavenly-blue morning glories . . . and on the hillside a field of corn, and and shocked . . . rustles then pauses; a murmur, a muted rhyme . . . notes in a rural symphony. Little cottontail skitters from a hodgepodge of thimbleberry and traces of wild lettuce, stop suddenly, skitters back again . . . sensitive lovely part-ridges hasten on through the stubby cornfield . . . but there is no refuge from the common trait of the joe-pye weed in gathering golden poddy-pie pumpkin from the ground.

Over on the point, "old baldy" where when it rains the water washes along over graveled hard earth, stands a lone persimmon, like a sentinel keeping watch; its mantle of gold and purplish fruit little wrinkled faces of old age.

The creek, winding there in the hills reveals a graceful arch fringed with the yellow willow resplendent in the dignity of the towering buttonwood tree, and there on the bank curves of yellow sand are studded with ornaments of driftwood.

In a garden is a "patchwork" of petunias, golden marigold and pretty sweet zinnias . . . the fence bordered with white, pink, red and yellow dahlias. And the reptitious little bee, industrious still, vying for the last of summer's nectars to fill its tiny basket . . . a swallowtail flits from somewhere then hesitates.

It is autumn and the woodland of the hill country is radiant in its paisley garment . . . smoke spirals from a field stone chimney in the valley and drifts impressively amidst the cathedral-like spires of the great trees of the forest . . . the great oaks and "bee" bum trees, the ash and poplar and the birch and the sourwood with a sprinkling of the little dogwood mingling fluorescently in a melody of color. . . yellows and bronzes and pinks and russets and heliotropes, and the blazing little maple spreading its hue over all.

And through the liquid air comes the tangy aroma of scented apples and molasses cane. The lengthening shadows hasten their journey up the rugged slopes of the branches, the creeks, the forks . . . an exciting chant, and from high above the crest of the hills . . . etched in wing formation against the blue, floats the call of wild geese . . . keeping pace with an ancient ritual.

Finally the first star of evening twinkles in the lilac haze and softly, vesper bells are chiming, in homage to a perfectly wonderful day, in a perfectly wonderful world.

OES BIRTHDAY PARTY

Members of Paulina Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, enjoyed the quarterly birthday dinner for members who had birthdays in July, August and September at the Masonic hall Monday evening before the regular meeting of the chapter.

Those who had birthdays were Ralph Walter, Della Kinner, Mae Wells, Helena Gevedon and Wilma Gevedon.

LACY ENDORSES HILL FOR CLERK

It is only a short time until the November election and the time when we will be selecting a county clerk to serve us for the next four years. Of course, it is very important to all of us that we select a man to serve us in that office who will serve to the best interest of the people of Morgan County. I would like at this time to take the opportunity of expressing my feelings in regard to the Democratic nominee, Austin Hill. Most all of you people know know Austin personally and know that he is a man of high moral character and with plenty of ability to handle the duties of the office which he is seeking. In addition to that I think it is time that Morgan County should elect a Democrat county clerk and to me this appears to be the best opportunity we have had in many years to elect a Democrat for that office.

I would not ask my friends to support a man solely because he is a veteran if he is not qualified to handle the office which he is seeking. However, when we have a man seeking the office who is qualified and also a veteran and especially in Morgan county, a Democrat, I see no reason at all why he should not receive the wholehearted support of all Democrats as well as all veterans of both political parties and earnestly urge you to give your support and your efforts in the election of Austin Hill for our county court clerk.

Respectfully,
Edwin Lacy, Veteran of World War II.

Kentucky Farmers Getting More Loans

Kentucky farmers have borrowed 17 percent more money from the Federal Land Bank during nine months of 1953 than they did in the corresponding period one year ago.

These figures were revealed by M. S. Kennedy, president of the bank, in his report at the annual shareholders' conference held in Louisville, October 20-21. Some 200 farmer-directors of the national farm loan associations in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee were in attendance.

Representing the Eastern Kentucky National Farm Loan Association at the conference were L. W. Blankenship, Hazel Green, and E. A. Cecil, Murphy Fork. Federal Land Bank loans totaling $16,145,400 were made in the first nine months of this year, Mr. Kennedy reported. At this rate the bank's business for 1953 will exceed any of its 36 years of operation except 1922 and 1934. Reasons given for the increase were the 4 percent interest rate maintained by the bank in the face of generally rising interest rates and the pinch farmers are feeling between lower commodity prices and higher operating costs.

Women Work too Hard ...and they shouldn't

If hanging clothes on a line were the best way to dry clothes—then carrying heavy baskets and bending and stretching would be worth while. But they aren't—because with an electric clothes dryer you can dry clothes without any hard work. Results are amazing:

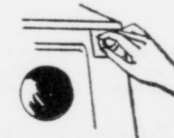

colors don't fade
towels, sheets, corduroys come out fluffier (need no ironing)
everything comes out sparkling clean

No chance for smoke, dust, or animals to dirty your wash. An electric clothes dryer saves time, too...dries an 8-lb. load of wash within an hour. And, you can dry clothes when you want to, day or night...rain or shine. It's the greatest work-saver ever invented for women! See a demonstration at your dealer's. VOTE NO ON BOTH AMENDMENTS

I notice considerable advertising in the Licking Valley Courier for Amendment No. 1 but they don't tell you there is also Amendment No. 2 which comes first on your ballot which cuts the elected State officers from nine (9) down to five (5) and lets the Governor appoint the others.

In the moneyed section of the state they say that to pass amendment No. 1 won't affect them in what they receive and their taxes will not be higher, and in the pauper counties they claim that it will bring in large sums, but there are ninety-four (94) pauper counties in Kentucky and if it increased the amount as much as claimed for them, it would take $18,000,000.00 to pay it, and the only way that they could get the dollars by voting "yes" on the money would be through taxes. Back in 1923 Morgan county voted a bond issue to be paid off in 20 years, and it has not been paid in 30 and it will take approximately 40 years more to pay off this bond.

If they could convince me that we would get several thousand No. 1 amendment, then I would vote for it but from what I know about it and I have made a study of both amendments, I am voting NO on both amendments and recommend that every one else do the same thing.

Good lawyers like Hubert Meredith and the State Chamber of Commerce are reported to be out against both amendments, and I am publishing some articles against the amendments to show there are two sides to it, as to most other issues that come before the people.

Respectfully submitted,
LYNN B. WELLS, Atty.

GRASSY CREEK—AUNT JESTON, 101, IS STILL BEDFAST

GRASSY CREEK, Ky., Oct. 19.—(By J. M. Gevedon)—Mrs. Jeston Gevedon whose hip was crushed by a fall April 6th, still lies helpless in bed with no apparent change, except her suffering is not so acute as when first injured. She still retains her normal mind and likes to talk with her visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart attended the football game at Lexington last Saturday night. Mrs. Lula Stacy, her son C. D. and Mrs. Berta Henry, all of Ashland, visited Aunt Jeston Gevedon Sunday.

Mrs. Delmar Allen and children, Mrs. Roy Benton, daughter, all of Cannel City, paid Aunt Jeston a short visit Sunday.

Mrs. Maggie McClure returned last Friday from an extended visit with friends and kindred in Ohio.

Mrs. Jennie Nickell of Independence attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Minnie Tipton, and remained for an extended visit with her old neighbors and kindred here.

Mrs. Luetta Byrd was at Camp-ton Tuesday to meet her grandson, Paul Tutt who is in on furlough from his Marine base in South Carolina. On return to his service, Paul will pass with his regiment overseas.

Mrs. Pauline D. Blair and Mr. and Mrs. William D. Blair and children attended the funeral of Mrs. James Ishmael Sunday in Sandy Hook.

Sewing Circle Meets At Cannel C. Church

The Church of God Sewing Circle of Cannel City met at the church Thursday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. During this time almost two quilts were quilted and one quilt top completed and another started.

A delicious pot luck lunch was served.

For the devotional the hymn "Amazing Grace" was sung, followed by prayer by Mrs. Dora Whiteaker and a short talk and Scripture reading by Mrs. Whiteaker.

Those enjoyed the day were: Flora Patrick, Renda Coffee, Nannie Benton, Ada Benton, Melissa Fletcher, Mrs. Asa Lykins, Frances Benton, Geneva Allen, Elizabeth Ferguson, Coleen Davis, Lula Benton, Nannie Peyton, Wanda Lacy, Stella Benton, Brandith Benton, Lizzie Nickell, Allie Fletcher, Mrs. Dora Whiteaker, Mae Oney, Mary Lykins, Louetta Bach, Bertha Spencer, Gladys Benton, Naomi Benton, Serena Vie and Mrs. Tom Davis.

The Circle will meet again on Oct. 21 for the day at the church. The bus will run between 8 and 8:30 for those on Stacy Fork and up Caney.

The Circle was happy to have as guests Mrs. Whiteaker, Mrs. Davis, Lizzie Nickell, Renda Coffee, Nannie Peyton, Mary Lykins, Serena Vie, Mrs. Lykins and Naomi.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE TOWN OF WEST LIBERTY

The time is getting closer every day to election when you will give your votes and influence to someone of us four men to serve you as your Police Judge—William (Billy) Smith, Kenneth Fairchild, John Helton and Tooger Wells.

Voters, you don't know how I would appreciate it if you will make up your minds to give me this little office. I need it, and the people of this town know me.

I am not tied up with any man or group of men. If I am elected your Police Judge, I will feel clear to and will deal out justice between all men or any businesses that come under my authority. I urge all voters to go to the polls and vote, and every vote that I get in this town will be highly appreciated.

—William Billy Smith

TO COMMENCE MEETING

Rev. Edd Fairman will commence a week's revival meeting at the Ezel Presbyterian church Sunday, Oct. 25. Services will be held each evening at 7 o'clock and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Carl Haggard To Talk At Layman's Program At Methodist Church

The Methodist church and the community will have the distinct honor of hearing Carl W. Haggard of Lexington at 11 o'clock Sunday. It is to be a Layman's Day program.

At seven in the evening the new district superintendent will preach and then hold the First Quarterly Conference for West Liberty. This calls for all official members to be present. Also the community is invited to hear this fine preacher.

By SCOTT MEADE

"Fear is a cloak worn by the weak."

When the Lord created us, among the many feelings and emotions we were given, was Fear—a quickening of the pulse that arouses our senses and makes the mind work at double speed. A defense to be used for self protection against our enemies.

Through the generations, Fear became civilized with us and often slips into the wrong nooks and corners—but Fear was intended for self-preservation and we must be strong enough to keep it locked away for emergency only. There is no disgrace in using any of our feelings or emotions as they were originally intended.

Where there is strength of mind and character, there is no need for Fear. When concrete danger is present we must summon all our forces, including Fear—but nature's greatest weapon should not be misused when we imagine there is a possibility of trouble in our midst. So let us be strong and not don the cloak of Fear—using this disguise to escape everyday problems—let us preserve it only for Stormy weather—when it can really help us.—West Liberty Funeral Home, Court Street.

WOODSBEND—

G. I. AND BRIDE VISIT THE MAYS

WOODSBEND, Ky.—(By Eve May)—Pfc. and Mrs. James Patrick May of Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Byron May. Mrs. May was Miss Virginia Howard of Dayton, Ohio, and Mr. May is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter May, formerly of Index. The couple were on a wedding trip, since their recent marriage in Indiana.

Stork Shower

Mrs. Wardie Gibson was the honored guest at a stork shower at her home Saturday. Cocoa and layer cake were served to Letha Evans, Lena Perry, Olla Campbell, Ora Faulkner, Lucille Sowards, Mabel Leach, Anna Gunnell, Minnie Gibson, Oma Robertson, Bertha Gibson, Opal Henry, Eva May, Pauline Jenkins, Louise McGuire, Stella McGuire, Mildred Dalton, Lula Johnson, and Mary Gibson.

Building New Church

Construction of the Woodsbend church building is progressing nicely under supervision of the pastor, Rev. Glen Des Jardins. When completed, this will be the first church house in this community. It will be available for funerals and conveniently located near the cemetery. It is believed that many in Ohio and other states and communities wish to help financially. If so, please mail your gift to the building fund to Rev. Glen Des Jardins, Woodsbend, Ky.

Mrs. Albert Harris is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lona Gose since her husband volunteered for service in the U. S. Marines. Mr. Harris graduated from Berea College last summer and he and Mrs. Harris had been employed at Portsmouth, O., until he entered the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Kamplin and Johnie, Jr., and Harriet and Ova W. Ratliff of Middletown, O. visited friends and relatives in this county over the week end.

Byron May and Asa Kemplin attended the stock sales in Flemingsburg last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Carpenter attended an annual meeting in Wolfe county Sunday and were picnic luncheon guests of Ervine Turner of Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Dennison of Cincinnati, O. were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Finley Gose.

WRITERS MEETING

vantage there is in knowing the likes and pet peeves of editors with whom you hope to sell.

Each panel member offered valuable tips for poetry writers. One interesting facet in Mrs. Higbee's poetry writing experience was the way she revised a great number of poems about nature and sold them. "I love nature," she said, "and much of my early poems were abstract pieces about trees, hills, etc. Few of these sold, until I went over all of them and tacked a you and I couplet at the end of each. Then they all sold."

In the discourse on writing, one of Morgan's best known writers of history, J. M. Gevedon from Grassy Creek, admonished the audience to study the old masters for technique and rhetoric.

FOR RENT—4 ROOMS and bath. See Mrs. Henry Colvin, Court Street. 1tp

The invocation at the luncheon was asked by Mrs. Lena Wells Lykins Voiers of Vanceburg, a member of the National League of American Pen Women, Inc.

Following the luncheon, Atty. Calvin Clarke of Portsmouth, O., who handles business and legal affairs for Jesse Stuart gave some experiences with the famous Kentucky author, including incidents occurring when W-Hollow was visited by movie people from Hollywood and New York, there for the purpose of buying movie rights for Stuart's book, "Taps for Private Tussie."

Mrs. Higbee told the group of the advantages of belonging to the National League of American Pen Women. In her own experience, she said, her membership in the League had opened many doors in publishing circles. She said when she mentioned "Pen Woman" to publishers, it was as if she had performed a bit of magic, and the welcome accorded her often included luncheons and dinners in her honor. Mrs. Higbee urged the women present to become eligible, and organize a branch of the League, and to participate in the many League contests, open only to Pen Women. A highlight for Pen Women this spring, she added, will be the biennial convention which will take place in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, wife of President Eisenhower, will entertain with a tea at the White House for visiting Pen Women.

Already members of the Kentucky Lake Branch of the National League are two Morgan countians, Mrs. Ova Amyx or Grassy Creek and Mrs. Henry L. Stacy of West Liberty. Also a member of the Kentucky Lake Branch is Mrs. Boyd Blair of West Liberty and Truda McCoy and Sylvia Auxier, Pikeville, will join as soon as their papers are returned from national headquarters. In November this group will organize the local branch.

The club room at Stamper's Restaurant was decorated with autumn leaves for the occasion. The centerpiece of "plume" grass, sumac pods and leaves in a dipper gourd. Favors were miniature writing pads with the words "Pen Women" painted on the covers, and topped with pencils. These were used to take notes at the meeting and to obtain autographs of those present.

Mrs. Henry L. Stacy presided at the meeting.

The following were present for the luncheon—Mrs. Higbee; Lena Wells Lykins Voiers, Vanceburg, Ky.; Katherine McClure Amyx, Grassy Creek; Sylvia Trent Auxier, Pikeville, Ky.; Irene Earls, Portsmouth, Ohio; William M. Justice, Pikeville, Ky.; Calvin Clarke, Portsmouth, Ohio; Irma Haney, Hodgenville, Ky.; Frances Wells, Cannel City, Ky.; Gene Haney, Florence Murray and Helen Price Stacy, West Liberty; Quentin R. Howard, Pikeville; Truda McCoy, Pikeville; and Elsie Lacy, Grassy Creek.

Some tobacco in Oldham county was injured by using insecticides at too heavy a rate or by spraying in the heat of the day.

International Day was observed by Ohio county homemakers at their 21st annual meeting.

Circuit Judge John A. Keck is holding court in West Liberty this week.

ROWLAND ASKS SUPPORT FOR HILL

We of Morgan County will have the opportunity to elect a County Clerk at the November election to serve us for the next four years. It is both important to us as well as the candidate to give serious consideration to the qualifications of the candidate.

To me, as well as to most of you, there are two main considerations to make in selecting our officers. The first is their ability to perform the duties of the office, and second, whether or not the candidate is deserving of our support.

We have a candidate who is the Democratic nominee and whom I feel is both qualified to perform the duties of the office and who also is deserving of our support. This man is Austin Hill, who is known to most of all of you. Austin is a sober, earnest and energetic young man who is establishing himself among us as well as he established his record in World War II.

Austin Hill is a veteran who served his country with honor and distinction. I served four and one-half years in the Army and was discharged as a Major with 323 combat missions with the US Air Force and I feel that I know what I am saying when I tell you that Austin Hill "deserves" your support. Let's all get behind him.

Respectfully,
Conrad Rowland,
Ezel, Kentucky

officers. Among guests recognized from the floor was John D. Engle, another author from Yocum, who spoke briefly, saying it's always good to get back to the hills. The banquet room was decorated in bright-colored leaves, fall flowers and evergreens. The speakers table bore a horn of plenty filled with wild fruits, and the banquet tables had decorations of gourds, squashes, bittersweet, etc. Programs were in the form of booklets with the title of Mrs. Higbee's book, "Songs For Mountain Men" on the title page.

Rev. Fred Pennington spoke the invocation and Rev. R. L. Meyers the benediction. The banquet was served by the Margaret Stacy Guild of the church and included country ham and pumpkin pie.

IN LOVING MEMORY

of Linda Joan Hall
The years have passed, one by one
Till now they number five;
But thoughts of you still linger
Deep in our memory.
But thine is a blessed sleep
From which none ever woke to weep.

A beautiful flower our Saviour took
To put in his garden rare
But he left to us the fragrance
Of your smiling face so fair.
God called you five years ago
Today, Linda,
Every day brings memories
Every memory brings a tear
When we awake five years ago
And found our baby Linda had gone home to be with Jesus, without any sign of warning, no one knows what it did to us. The place you held in our hearts and home will never be filled. Five sad and lonely years have passed since our great sorrow fell. The shock that we received that day no one could ever tell.

When God went into His garden
To pick a perfect flower and Chose our little Linda Joan
And took her up there.
He needed another angel
To make heaven complete
So he took our little Linda Joan Because she was so good and sweet.
Home is so dark without her
The flowers bloom bright no more
The birds sing sad and mournful
They miss her too we know
Although you have joined God's angels
And your form we see no more
We will not forget you Linda
And will meet you in the golden shores
—Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hall
